

This regulation has not been clearly thought through. It will create complications in the business world that hardly justify its purpose. It truly is bordering on being absurd. I hope FCC will rethink its move.